COVER STORY

Permitting Reform

Permitting reform would put many projects in high gear—and not only boost the economy in our supply chain, but also meet the massive demand for power. What's the holdup? Congress. They just won't pass it. In this month's cover story we take a look at the impact on our industry if Congress passes permitting reform. Hint: NECA sets the number at $1 trillion—more than five times what our entire supply chain generates in a year.
